Week Commencing: 9.5.22

This week, one of my colleagues said in passing "I love this time of year. I love seeing the pupils in their classes and around the school and realising how far they have all come over the course of the year".
I couldn't agree more. To watch our pupils grow and develop over the course of each academic year is such a privilege.
Celebrating all the achievements of our pupils at Oak View are the moments that we all take pride in. I try not to quantify those achievements in to 'big' or 'small': every single one is of equal worth and every one is a stepping stone to our pupil's fulfilling who they will be when they are grown. And all of our amazing pupils have been stepping on those stones over the past year! I look forward to seeing more golden moments over the final term of the year!
